7	Brief Report	The Department of English organized a Group Presentation for the students of M.A. English 2nd Semester on the topic "Growth of the English Language from Old English to Modern English." The objective of the activity was to help students explore the historical development of the English language and understand the major linguistic, cultural, and historical influences that contributed to its evolution. Working in groups encouraged students to engage with the subject through discussion, research, and collaborative learning. During the presentations, the students explained the distinctive characteristics of the four major stages of the English language: Old English, Middle English, Early Modern English, and Modern English. They discussed significant historical events such as the Anglo-Saxon settlement, the Norman Conquest, the Renaissance, and the influence of printing, illustrating how these developments shaped English vocabulary, grammar, pronunciation, and literary traditions. The presentations reflected thoughtful preparation and a sound understanding of the topic. The activity witnessed enthusiastic participation from all the students, making the classroom environment interactive and intellectually stimulating. It not only strengthened their knowledge of the history of the English language but also enhanced their presentation, communication, research, and teamwork skills. Overall, the group presentation proved to be a meaningful and enriching academic exercise that fostered confidence, critical thinking, and a deeper appreciation of the evolution of the English Language.
